

Sanner's Lake Woodstock Match Report – June 2022

A day that started cool and cloudy quickly changed to hot and humid but that didn't deter four determined shooters from heading out to the range and slinging lead with their vintage military shooting irons at the June Woodstock match at Sanner's Lake. Ron Ferguson and his Garand continue to put together consistently tight groups, taking first place in the individual category with a strong 95-0X as well as the combined category with an excellent 276-2X. Mark Swierczek is still trying to find a .45-70 reload recipe that will put his Trapdoor Springfield in the 90's, but a string of 80's totaling 261-0X was good enough for second place combined. Meanwhile, new-to-Woodstock shooter Alex Chung quickly found out that seeing your holes is essential to getting into the black, eventually using a loaner spotting scope to dial in his K31 to good effect as he took third place combined with a well-earned 253-2X. Thanks to everybody who shrugged off the weather and made it out the range to put on a competitive match. The next Woodstock match will be on July 21st, with more hot and humid weather undoubtedly in the forecast. See you there!
